A RENEGADE IN ARIZONA.—The people of Arizona are estimated that a wretch named Gay, a renegade white man who sells arms and ammunition to the Indians, is at the bottom of the late Apache outrages, and undoubtedly supplied the savages not only with their implements of death, but with information and directions for their bloody work.

SANGUINARY ENGAGEMENT HATWEEN UNITED STATES THOOPS AND INDIANS-More than Thirty Savages Killed .- The following appears in the San Antonio (Texas) Herald, of the 7th inst.:

the 7th inst.:

Captain S. D. Sturgis, First Cavalry, commanding the southern column of the Kioway and Camanche Expedition, which moved from Fort Cobb, in the Department of Texas, some weeks since, reports that on the 7th ult be came up with a large body of Camanches and Kloways, and, he thinks, Cheyennes, estimated at from 600 to 800, on the 'Republican,' about sixty miles southwest of Fort Kearney.

The Indians had prepared to give battle, but it appears that their courage took flight on the approach of the troops, and they fisl in pursuit of their departed bravery. A running fight, over a space of about fifteen miles, ensued, which terminated by the Indians separating isto small parties and seat-dians separating isto small parties and scat-tering in all directions, rendering further pursuit impossible. Twenty-nine Indians are known to have been killed, but from the nature of the engagement and the country over which it was fought, it will probably be impossible to tell with certainty the actual loss of the Indians. The loss to the troops was one man missing—supposed to have been killed—and three wounded; two friendly Indians were also killed.

THE ILL SUCCESS OF SUBMARINE CARLES. According to the London Observer, the Atlantic telegraph cable is not the only deep-sea telegraphic communication which refuses to work. The Red Sea telegraph is out of order, the Malta and Cagliari line, of about 300 miles in length, has long been inter-rupted. The line to Algiers has been aban-doned; the cable from Malta to Corfa has also gone the way of its predecessors; that nothing for some time past to the stock of weekly dispatches. The failure of all these is attributed to want of knowledge of the is attributed to want of knowledge of the qualities of the materials employed, and the peculiar character of the electric fluid. There has been not only insufficient experi-ence, but a great want of care in the manu-facture of submarine telegraphs, and a desire to economise expenditure. Notwith-standing these failures, there are projects in Europe for laying down other deep-sea tele-graph lines, including one across the At-lantic from Denmark to America.

A LIFE HEROICALLY SAVED.—At Providence, R. I., Augustus Melville, was knocked overboard by the main sail, while enjoying a trip in a pleasure boat. A cotton cushion was thrown to him which supported him for a few moments, when Capt. Charles Collins jumped from the second-story of a building on the wharf, and with almost incombible enjokeness researed the sinking worth omining on the whart, and with amount in-credible quickness, rescued the sinking youth by means of a small boat. Meiville was wholly under water, his position being in-dicated only by the fender.

A SINGULAR AND ROMANTIC CARRER OF A A SINGULAR AND HOMANTIC CARRER OF A COVODE.—The grandfather of the Hon John Covode, of Pennsylvania, was picked up at Amaterdam when a child of three or four years, put on a vessel and brought to Philadelphia, where he was sold by the Captain as a "redemptioner" until he was twenty-eight years of age, the Captain giving him the name of Covode. He was sold to a man in Chester County by the name of Miller. the name of Covode. He was not to a man in Chester County by the name of Miller. He never learned to read or write. After he had served out his time he married the widow of a British officer, the officer having died at York, Penn. There was one son the saue of that marriage, and the Hon. John Covode is the closes on of that son, his father having died about the time of his first election to Congress. Some time since an effort was made to trace the family in Amsterdam, but no name of the kind could be sterdam, but no name of the kind could be found there, leading to the supposition that the Captain gave the child a name of his own contriving. At another time the American Consul at Amsterdam was asked to inquire concerning a child of the age lost at that time, but so many had been stolen and carried off, that nothing could be learned of that family, and the search is now abandance.

THE CHARACTER AND ORIGIN OF THE DRUGES.
The Druges are said to have derived their name from Druzi, who lived in the eleventh name from Druzi, who lived in the eleventh century, and preached the divinity of Hakim, a Caliph, whose reign was long, and monstrously iniquitous, but who is adored as a god by the Druses, and looked to as their future deliverer. Like the Jews, they are expecting a Messiah, who is to be Hakim, the Second. They are said to worship a calf, but they conceal the rites of their religion. This tribe, which was powerful in the last century, was decimated sixty years ago by the celebrated Emir Bechir, a great prince among the Maronites, but an unchristian man. The embers of that long-slumbering feud have now, by some underhand means, been fanned into a flame again.

SINGULAR AND ROMANTIC MEETING IN A CONVENT.—When Louis Phillippe and his queen were in exile, in Claremont, they visited the convent of the Sacre Cœur. The nun who conducted them through the house nun who conducted them through the house was so amiable and agreeable that the queen, on leaving, expressed her extreme satisfaction, "Perhaps," added Her Majesty, "you will be interested to know who your visitors are. This gentleman is Louis Phillippe; I am the Queen Amelie." The nun, bowing profoundly, replied, with a gentle smile, And I am Mademoiselle Bonaparte."

POYERTY OF THE WINE CROP IN FRANCE.—
The wine crop of France is very poor this season, and the opinion is that it will fall short of the last one. Vines are all affected by the oidium, in the south of France principally, and the grapes are nearly destroyed; in some places sulphur has been employed successfully to destroy the disease.

RAILWAY RECEIPTS IN FRANCE,-The Mon-RAILWAY RECEIPTS IN FRANCE,—The Mon-fleur publishes the official return of the re-ceipts of the railroads in France for the first six months of the present year. The total sum was 185,982,076f., while in the corre-sponding period of 1859 the receipts were 180,773'952f., showing an improvement in favor of 1860 of 5,208,125f.

WATER-SPOUTS ON LAKE ERIE .- There were several water-spouts seen off upon Lake Erie, last week. The clouds seemed to dip down to the surface like a funnel, and draw water up in a spiral column with great force, resembling a whirlwind in its

THE DECADENCE OF OLD AND NOBLE FAMI-LIES.—It is stated in an English paper, in speaking of the failure in descent in many of the families of the nobility, that of the twenty-five Barons who were appointed to enforce the observance of the Magna Charto there is not now in the House of Peers a single male descendant.

A HIRSUYS BREAKFAST .- "What do voi A Hissurs Breakfast.—"What do you call this?" said Jones, tapping his breakfast lightly with his fork. "Call it?" snarled the landlord, "what do you call it?" "Well, really," said Jones, "I don't know; it hasn't quite enough hair in it for plaster, but there's a lectle too much in it for hash."

A SHREWD CONVICT .- At some assizes, country fellow was convicted, and brought up and sentenced. The judge asked him if he had any thing to say why sentence should not be pronounced, and was somewhat astonished at the answer: "I don't know's I have, I sin't got no money."

THE ADVANTAGE OF RACING .- Persons who sport money at races are likely to come into connection with good company, or, at all events, they are continually with their betters. Another advantage is, that they can never be hard up for their dinner, as they always have a stake.

TRANSCRIDENTAL OSTHOGROPHY.—A traveler passing through Weston, near Bridgewater, sceing a sign over the door with this one word, "Agorsquere," he called to the woman to inquire what she sold, when she said she did not sell any thing, but that "agues were cured there." After the presentation of addresses from the Mayor and citizens of Windsor, the Royal party were escorted on board the steamer Windsor, which had been beautifully and appropriately decorated for the occasion, and crossed over to this city. On board the steamer were Governor Wissner, board the steamer were Governor Wissner, the Mayor, Common Council, and a number of prominent citizens, who were presented to His Highness; after which, and when the boat had reached American waters, Mayor Bull formally welcomed Baron Renfrew to the United States. Arranged in the river opposite the city was a large fleet of river vessels, their rigging teachilly deposated vessels, their rigging tastefully decorated with variegated lights and hung with banners, emblems and words of greeting. As the steamer bearing the royal party passed through the ficet, each vessel threw a perfect shower of blue-lights and Roman-candles, which is not the most beautiful displays. making one of the most beautiful displays

The Royal party landed at the foot of Woodward-avenue, where they were re-ceived by the entire Fire Department of the city, bearing torches, and most of the mili-tary, by whom they were escorted to the Russell House.

Baron Renfrew and suite leave for Chicago morrow morning.

DETROIT, September 21,—From an early hour this morning the streets in the vicinity of the Russell House, were densely packed with people, auxious to catch a glimpse of the Prince, when he should appear to take his departure for the cars.

Just before ten o'clock he made his appearance with two of his suite, accompanied by Mayor Buhl, intending to drive through the city before proceeding to the cars. A magnificent open barouche, drawn by four white horses, had been provided for the purpose, in which the party seated them-

Political News. BUFFALO, N. Y., September 20.—Douglas arrived here from Niagara Falls, at noon, and was received at the depot by a large concourse of people. He was accompanied by near 2,000 persons from the adjoining towns, drawn hither to hear the Senator gueak. Mr. Douglas was escorted by an imposing procession of citizens on foot and in carriages, and "Little Giants" in uniform, carriages, and "Little Gianta" in uniform, to the Courter House, where he spoke to an audience of about 20,000 persons.

Judge Douglas made a compact and able argument, touching upon the troubles of 1850, which were set at rest by the Compromise measures of 1850, complimenting Clay, Webster, Fillmore and the Union Whigs and Democrats, who took part in accomplishing those measures, and showing that the Whigs and Democrats in 1852, and Americans in 1856, had concurred in maintaining the principle of non-intervention, by Congress, with slavery, which had formed the basis of the Compromise of 1850.

THE VENTILATION OF ROOMS.—A gentle-man in Burlington, Vt., has invented a sim-ple and effective method of ventilating rooms. The apparatus is attached to the stove-pipe, and takes the air from the bottom of the room, drawing down the heated air from the top of the room, thus preventing the waste of fuel often occasioned by other modes of ventilation, and, as it is claimed, carrying off the impure air and noxious gases.

WAY'S ELECTRIC LIGHT,-Professor Way's WAY's ELECTRIC LIGHT,—Professor Way's electric light, in which the light is produced by a stream of electricity applied to a running stream of mercury as fine as the point of a needle, is meeting with much favor in England. It is said that there is no actual combustion of the mercury, the only expense being for the acids supplied to the battery. The light is exceedingly brilliant.

HATCHING OF OSTRICHES .- A second intance has occurred of the hatching of ostriches in Europe, at Prince Demidoff's Zoological establishment of San Denate. The male bird sits on the eggs, relieved by the female about three hours a day and assisted by her also on extra occasions, as that of a violent storm, when it took both to keep the eggs together.
